As soon as I finished reading the topics, I wanted to do something about education. I am currently a student. The people who know best about education are those who have experienced it firsthand, so I thought I could use this to solve the problem. And we made it possible to study efficiently using Chat GPT. When I started studying as a student now, I had the most difficult experience of what to do first. Using this experience, I created an app that helps you start studying easily.

The 100-day plan takes time to create the most effective plan through Chat GPT. In the 100-day plan, only subjects should be included in the Self column. And since we added the necessary parts for studying while using this app, let's think about whether the added parts are helpful for studying or not.

CHAT GPT, YOUTUBE

By connecting the 100-day planner with Chat Gpt, you can find the most effective way to study. When connecting to Chat Gpt, the API key was used to connect to App Inventor. It is unknown whether this API key will be executed because it has not been possible to test whether it will be executed when executed in other countries.

Also, connecting youtube to help the most effective stretching skills.
